

Mid Summer Tidings

Friday August 12th at 5:30 pm - A New Tradition: Tu B'Av Observed. We will observe Tu B'Av with a special Oneg Shabbat, strawberries dipped in melted chocolate following Services. We will top it off with a Champagne Shabbat, with blessings & special toasts to those we love in our lives, or, the connections – or friendships - we hope to find.

The first time we hear of Tu B'Av is in the early post-Biblical periods. It was day of matchmaking. Tu B'Av has been revived in Israel today, in secular observance as a kind of Jewish Valentine's Day.

Friday, August 19th at 5:30 pm – Beach Services at Huntington Avenue Beach in Margate – bring a beach chair!

Friday, August 26th at 5:30 pm – Back to Shul. Join us for Services outdoors, followed by “Chicken ‘n Fixin’s” Picnic Supper. We will provide the Chicken; you bring the “fixin’s” for your family. There will be S’mores, Games & Maui Joe’s Shave Ice. Cost is $10 per family.

Join Rabbi Feshbach every

Taste of Judaism – Are You Curious?

Have you ever had questions about Judaism or Jewish life? Or have your non-Jewish friends, family or neighbors ever expressed any interest in Judaism to you? Taught by Rabbi Michael Feshbach, this is a free, three-week introduction to the basic concepts of Judaism – God, Torah and Israel; spirituality, ethics and community. It is for all who are curious about Judaism, interfaith couples, Jews with little background or those interested in learning more about Judaism in an introductory and non-threatening way.

Open to the community. Designed for beginners, Jewish or not. No charge to attend, but space is limited.

To register or with any questions, call 609-641-3600, or email us at bethisrael@cbnorthfield.org Tuesday evenings, September 6, 13 and 20, 7:30-9:00 PM in the comfort of the Cohen Library at Beth Israel, 2501 Shore Rd, Northfield, NJ.

The Right Blend

Message from Rabbi Michael L. Feshbach

Amongst the culinary delights of moving to this part of the world, besides picking blueberries and the best tomatoes we have had in some time, is the plethora of good Italian eateries. Sometimes, however, the experience is more than merely one of taste. It is also educational.

I always assumed, for example, that Italian Wedding Soup was a traditional meal served as part of a celebration following a marriage ceremony. I was surprised to learn that the term refers, rather, to the wedding of different ingredients. It's about getting the mix right. It is about the blend of flavors.

A month here, and we are still finding our way around – and getting to know many of you. I look forward to many wonderful services and celebrations together, a meaningful Jewish journey I am honored to share with you.

My hope, of course – my mission, if you will – is to make out of this match just the right blend. Doing so will depend on local flavor, established traditions, and a mixture with the experience and energy from new people... not just me, but other new faces as well.

Getting that blend right is a matter of experimentation, testing, and mutual adjustment. There will be some elements which will not work, and others which will be a surprise to us all.

With enough patience, enough openness, and enough love, we will, I pray, bright out the best in one another. And we will, in the community we build, honor the traditions of the past, and provide a spiritual nourishment which will work for today, and for tomorrow.

Thank you all, for welcoming me to this community, this congregation, and this sacred task. I truly look forward to what we can do, together.

With excitement, and humility,

Michael L. Feshbach
Rabbi
